

COTTAGE OWNERS GIVE DINNER IN HONOR OF CRESSY

The Cottage Owners' association of Blodgett's Landing, Lake Sunapee, gave a complimentary dinner to former President and Mrs. Will M. Cressy, of this city, at Blodgett Lodge last night at which nearly 60 were present. Mr. Cressy has served as president of the organization since 1906 and was one of the founders of this popular lake colony.

W. L. Taggart who hails from the "Barbary Coast," acted as toastmaster for the event, and words of greeting were said by George P. Taylor, who succeeds Mr. Cressy as president upon his retirement this year. Lucile Bolz gave a reading, and a piano solo was rendered by Miss Eleanor Breed. Prayer was offered by Rev. Frank L. Kellsey.

Mr. Cressy was the last speaker on the program and during his short talk said that he wished to thank all for the way that they had assisted him in carrying on the work of the association during the years that he had been its head and that he still stood ready to do all in his power for the future success of the organization.

The Cottage Owners' association has built its own club house, keeps its own sidewalks in repair, takes care of its own street lights and protects the cottages during the winter months by keeping two watchmen for that purpose without being assisted by the town.

Mr. Cressy, who is a well known actor all through the United States, and his wife Blanche (Dayne) Cressy, are expected to return to their home here on South street early next month before they go to New York to make the final arrangements for their tour of the Keith circuit this season.
